ECHO OF ROBBERY GUESTS OF THE ELKS IS HEARD IN SUIT

The Elks' committee in charge of "Purple day" has completed the programme for the outing Saturday at Wandamere for the entertainment of all orphans in the city. Beginning Friday evening, when the Inmates of all orphans' homes in the city will be treated to an automobile ride over town and a run by the fire department, the fatherless little ones will have a glorious celebration. Early Saturday they will be taken in special street cars to Wandamere and an entire day of unalloyed happiness given them.

All attractions of the resort will be open to the orphans, without charge, and two bountiful luncheons will be served at all hours and the generous Elks and their ladies will be on hand to see that every one of their little guests has an enjoyable time. An interesting athletic programme has been arranged for both afternoon and evening and hundreds of "grownups" are expected to attend and assist the young ones in enjoying the many interesting extents in the afternoon for boys, girls, young men and young women and motorcycle races, a wrestling contest and other events in the evening will entertain the crowds.

RISKS HIS LIFE IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Thinking the best time to escape from jail is lust before one is lodged there. Boy Stanton, sentenced to lifteen days for vagrancy by Judge Bowman yesterday morning, made a break for liberty as the jailer was leading him from the courtroom to the jail.

Stanton twisted away from Jailer Thomas Gillespie, dashed down the stairs into the jail kitchen and escaped into the yard, where Patrolman William Hilton took up the chase. Three times pursuer and pursued circled the jail. Then Jailer Gillespie took a hand and the officers went both ways around the building. Stanton, finding himself trapped, made a desperate dash down the alley towards State street. Patrolman Hilton stopped him before he reached the street by threatening to shoot.

CLEANERS BLAMED FOR LOSS BY FIRE

The home of Mrs. M. P. Kirk at 235 South Eighth East street was damaged by fire to the extent of $100 yesterday afternoon. The blaze started from sparks alighting on the roof. Cleaners were at work in the house and one of them threw a large amount of combustible material into the furnace and louched a match to it. Instantly the flames shot up the chimney top and set fire to the dry shingles. Chief W. H. Bywater and the apparatus from station No. 4 soon had the fire under control. The loss is covered by insurance.

STOP GAP IN LEVEE

Raging Colorado River; Rich Lands Flooded.

NEEDLES, Cai., June 17.—Piling and a piledriver were started down the Colorado river from above Blythe tonight to the break in the dyke near Palo Verde valley. It will be used in a daring attempt to mend the form walls of the levee. Indians were employed to ride the rafts, white men refusing the hazard. It is intended as soon as the break is reached, to send an Indian swimmer ashore with a rope, make fast the raft of piling, and then gradually awing it in front of the break of the dyke. If this is successful, baled hay, straw and sacks of sand will be heaped in front of the piling to close the gap.

Water continued to rush through the break tonight and was rushing out on the rich valley, destroying crops of all kinds. Many ranchells succeeded in removing most of their harvested crops to higher land.

Twenty miles south of Needles, it was reported, a large portion of an indian village crumbled into the river and was washed down the stream. The Indians barely had time to save themselves.

Reports of suffering come from the inhabitants of the region opposite Old Fort Mojave, near where the first break occurred.
